President's Message

Ruth Hartman

Dear Shir Ami members and friends,

Your Board members have been thinking about how to make volunteering at Shir Ami—whether as a member of the Board, on a committee, or by handling a specific task—more fun and satisfying. All of us in this community care deeply about our synagogue, but most of us have other passions as well and are trying to find balance in our lives. Meanwhile, Shir Ami needs each of us to share in the work of keeping our community vibrant and thriving.

As part of our effort to improve the quality of the volunteer experience, we are experimenting with having people take on roles in pairs. Each pair can discuss their respective talents and interests and agree on how they will share the work. They can encourage each other's creative ideas. They can follow up with each other to help keep projects on track. And in some cases, the more experienced member of the team can coach the newer person to be her/his eventual replacement.

Here are some current examples of the Shir Ami “buddy system” in action:

- Co-Treasurers: Toni Schulberg (receivables) and Maryann Leshin (payables)
- Religious Committee co-chairs: David Schulberg and Diana Zankowsky
- Membership Committee co-chairs: Barbara Heimowitz and Danielle Keil
- Social Action committee co-chairs: Sara Lamnin and Daryl Berman
- Webmasters: David Schulberg and Bruce Skelly

In addition, longtime Shir Ami member Julie Greenfield has agreed to join the Board in the role of First Vice President. I will continue to be President for one more year, during which Julie and I will work closely together. Next year, Julie will take on the very fulfilling role of Shir Ami President, and I will shift to being her support person.

We have one more new partnership to tell you about. Barb Haber will be joining the wonderful Jodi Blum as Religious School co-Director for the coming year. Running our school is a very big job, and we are very fortunate that Jodi has been willing to do it “solo” for the past three years. She has done a great job. Going forward, teaming with Barb's smarts, passion, and energy will be a great plus for Jodi and for the program.

Thank you to our Nominating Committee, Barb Haber, Jan Dombrower, and Julie Greenfield, for their thoughtful outreach in developing this year's Board slate (listed in this Bulletin). Thank you to our current and incoming Board members for their dedicated service. And I particularly want to thank Bruce Carter, who is leaving the Board after many years of service, including a turn as President.

I look forward to seeing all our members on Sunday, May 17 for our annual End-of-the-School-Year Potluck (11:30) and Annual Membership Meeting (12:30).

Without looking below, take a moment and think of the 7 most important events in Jewish History. Your list might look something like this:

- 1) God's call to Abraham
- 2) Exodus from Egypt (and subsequent revelation in the desert)
- 3) The building/destruction of the First Temple
- 4) The building/destruction of the Second Temple
- 5) The Spanish Inquisition/Expulsion
- 6) Ha'Shoah
- 7) Establishment of the State of Israel.

These last two events are remarkable in that they have occurred within some of our lifetimes. David Ben Gurion, the first Prime Minister of Israel, noted that when the Knesset declared Yom Ha'Atzma'ut a public Holiday in 1949, it was the first time such an event was added to the Jewish Calendar in approximately 2000 years.

In the fall, we celebrate the Religious High Holy Days. In the spring, we mark the so-called "secular" High Holy Days: Yom Ha'shoah, Yom Ha'Zikaron, and Yom Ha'Atzmaut. The way in which the people of Israel commemorate these holidays is almost as remarkable as the events themselves. For both Yom Ha'Shoah and Yom Ha'Zikaron, a siren is sounded in the morning to commemorate the memories of those lost in the Holocaust and in defense of the state. The ENTIRE country stops at the same moment to mark these sacred times.

While a week separates Yom Ha'Shoah from Yom Ha'Zikaron, there is no break between Israel's Memorial Day and Independence Day. Much like Passover moves from slavery to redemption, Israel commemorates the lives of those that died to build the state before they celebrate the country's existence. Solemn reverence is replaced by things we're very familiar with for our own Independence Day: concerts, Bar-B-Q's and those all-important fireworks.

Much like Israel, our Memorial Day also falls in the month of May, but the Israelis seem to place a different sort of reverence upon it. Maybe it's because the Israeli is so close to the violence. Maybe it is because every Israeli can relate. Here in the United States, we commemorate our Servicemen and women in a different way. We think of the day off we're going to enjoy as if it were the Fourth of July.

I think it's important we take a lesson from our Israeli brethren. We will have our time to celebrate our country's independence, but for now we need to recognize the men and women of our military in the proper way. Take some time on this Memorial Day to properly recognize those that deserve it. It is important that we let those abroad and at home know that we appreciate and respect what they do to ensure the liberties that we so freely enjoy.

Shalom v'simcha l'culam.

Peace and happiness to all.

Matt

We'd like to hear from you

Hebrew Union College – Jewish Institute of Religion (HUC-JIR) in Los Angeles is the graduate school that our student rabbis attend. The school, in the interests of helping our students learn and grow while at their student pulpits, has asked us to provide regular, written feedback to the students and their advisors. That means that they want to hear from us after EVERY visit by each of the student rabbis. Diana Zankowsky has taken on the job of Lay Advisor and she will collect and convey that feedback. Please communicate both positive and corrective feedback to Diana, (at dzankowsky@aol.com) no later than Tuesday after a rabbi's visit. Thank you in advance for contributing to our student rabbis' educations.

May 17th End of Year Party and Potluck

The Education Committee met twice in April to plan for next year. Among other topics, we discussed ways to strengthen curriculum at all grade levels. Thanks to Rabbi Suzy for making time to meet with us on April 11 and facilitating a very useful brainstorming session about three kinds of learning: Affective, Behavioral, and Cognitive.

Suzy and Matt will be helping us over the summer by identifying curriculum resources available at the Hebrew Union College to support thematic studies in our classrooms next year.

Please join us on Sunday, May 17 at 11:30 for our annual End-of-the-School-Year potluck. We'll be presenting certificates to the children and honoring our teachers. The annual membership meeting will follow at 12:30. Your presence is very important!

Yours,

Adult Education

In May, Congregation Shir Ami will continue to offer several different adult education classes and gatherings.

Saturday, May 2nd, Shir Ami will bring you the last Havdalah and Movie until next fall. Please come and watch "The Stars of Shlomi" (Ha'Kochavim Shel Shlomi). Shlomi is a 17-year-old boy who has unwittingly become the most important member of his household -- with his mildly-paranoid father divorced from his mother. Shlomi looks after his aging grandfather, cooks the meals, keeps tabs on his brother, and tries to keep the house clean. With so much going on, Shlomi doesn't have much time for (or interest in) his schoolwork. This film, a comedy, nominated for 12 Israeli Academy Awards, will tell a story of the Israeli family and how with the power of love, the sky's the limit. The movie will follow Havdalah which begins at 7pm Saturday, May 2.

Rabbinic Intern Suzy Stone will be here on May 16th and will lead a study of Parashat Behar-Bechukotai beginning at 3:30 pm at the synagogue.

Judy Ganz continues to teach the weekly "Learning Hebrew through Prayer" class, for those who already have basic literacy skills. Please contact Judy at jbganz@aol.com if you are interested in joining.

Our on-going monthly class for adults interested in conversion to Judaism will continue to meet on Saturdays. Contact Diana Zankowsky, dzankowsky@aol.com, for more information or if you are interested in joining.

Sisterhood:

Last month's Rosh Chodesh we had the countdown...."From Ruin to Renewal." We welcomed the new moon and the new month of Iyar at Anthony Chabot Regional Park on Thurs. 4/23. We gathered at a campsite and enjoyed a delicious picnic dinner of Israeli food. We discussed the many holidays in the new month and their significance. These included Yom HaShoah (Holocaust Memorial Day), Yom HaAtzmaut (Israeli Independence Day), Yom HaZikaron (Memorial Day), Yom Yerushalayin (Day of Jerusalem) Pesach Sheni (Second Passover) and Lag B'omer. We also talked about counting the Omer and also had inspirational words about not just "counting the days and counting our blessings" but also making each day and all of our blessings count! We shared that Iyar is often a month of healing, learning, telling, and new discoveries.

We concluded with the warmth of a campfire (bonfires are a tradition on Lag B' Omer) and of course S'mores. Thank you to Sharon Golembo who was the hostess, organizer, and inspiration for this creative and unique Rosh Chodesh.

Next Month's Rosh Chodesh will be on Tuesday, May 26th at 7:30. Hosted by Joan Hirschberg, we will have a Falafel party!! We will bring in the month of Sivan and prepare for Shavuot. Please mark your calendars for this fun gathering and bring your appetites for Falafel and cheese cake. Watch your email for final details as the date gets closer. We will want an RSVP for those who plan to attend.

Our last Sisterhood gathering will be on Monday, June 22 at 7:00pm for our annual end of year bar-b-que held at Deerview Park on Columbia Drive in Castro Valley. Stay tuned for more to come on this bar-b-que pot luck.

KASHRUT - MORE THAN MEAT AND MILK

You shall not abuse a needy and destitute laborer, whether a fellow countryman or a stranger in one of the communities of your land. You must pay him wages on the same day, before the sun sets, for he is needy and he urgently depends on it.

Deuteronomy 24:14-15

Jewish tradition advocates employment with dignity and supports the right to employment with dignity. The Hekhsher Tzedek Campaign brings social justice standards to augment the existing regulations for kosher food production. The new symbol, which would be added to kosher food packages, is an “emanating” multi-layered Star of David. This new mark would indicate that the workers producing the kosher food receive adequate wages and benefits and that the company complies with environmental, corporate transparency, integrity, and employee health and safety standards. With the exception of transparency, which is considered a measure of trustworthiness, each of the other ethical certification areas represents a code within Jewish law.

The development of these standards follows investigation into kosher food factories and concerns regarding the working conditions and number of fines levied on particular companies. Started in 2007, Hekhsher Tzedek is a joint project of the Rabbinical Assembly and the United Synagogue of Conservative Judaism. Though the initiative, as well as the actual seal - the Magen Tzedek - the Hekhsher Tzedek commission will be responsible for credentialing manufacturing companies based on the aforementioned criteria. The Commission anticipates implementation of the Magen Tzedek by Rosh Hashannah this year. "By introducing Magen Tzedek, we are inviting the public to be a part of the conversation about kashrut, justice and Judaism," said Commission Co-Chair Jerold Jacobs. "Magen Tzedek draws together consumers of kosher food around the communal table to contemplate how to bring tzedek - justice - to the world."

"Our initiative has captured the hearts and minds of American Jews, reflecting deeply-held social and religious values," said Rabbi Morris Allen, creator and founder of the Hekhsher Tzedek initiative. "Magen Tzedek presents an opportunity to deepen one's observance of kashrut alongside social responsibility."
